

2nd USB conference of doctoral students

December 7 - 8, 2022

Room M5 in building ZM of the USB campus

*Natural sciences cannot further be separated from social sciences and humanities.
Indeed, scientific activities necessary to address actual society-wide challenges require an interdisciplinary approach.*

The idea of this conference stands on the following three pillars:

- A need to strengthen social integration of doctoral students beyond fields and faculties
- Unity of science and mutual respect of researchers from all fields as the basis for further successful development of science
- Necessity of interdisciplinary approach to solving many actual global challenges

The aim of this conference is to support values corresponding to these pillars right from the beginning of scientific career.

This is the second conference of this kind. In November 2021, the first conference occurred. Over 60 Ph.D. students from all faculties gathered and presented their research to their Ph.D. fellows. The conference atmosphere was unexpectedly warm and friendly, and we as the organizers hope it will remain so. We are looking forward to seeing you at our 2022 conference!!!

Organizers: Dr. Luděk Berec, vice-rector for science and research USB, Department of Science and Research USB, and Department of Marketing USB, with a support from vice-deans with research agenda from all faculties.

Contributions: No restrictions exist as regards topics of individual contributions. Given the conference aim, the contributions should be comprehensible (at least for the most part) for a wider range of students from different disciplines, with an emphasis on the importance of research and potential interference with other disciplines. In principle, a brief explanation of the research topic, used methods, and possibly what (partial) results have already been achieved, will be fine. Where possible, the emphasis on interdisciplinarity is appropriate, but it should follow naturally. Papers can take the form of both presentations and posters. The length of individual presentations is planned to be 15 minutes, including short discussion.

Further information: Attendance at the conference is free. Attendance at the conference is voluntary. The language of the conference is English. In strongly justified cases, Czech or Slovak is possible. The structure of the conference is standard: presentation blocks separated by coffee breaks, and a poster session. At the end of the second conference day, a social evening will take place, where best presentations and posters will also be rewarded. And it will be mostly you, the students, who will vote for the winners.

Major dates:

Conference applications: until 15 November 2022

Conference program announcement: until 30 November 2022

For any further information please email to lberec@prf.jcu.cz (Luděk Berec)